Privacy Statement

You have agreed to take part in a research study to test if questionnaires usually done using paper and pencil, are equally valid and reliable when using a smartphone. To do this we will provide you with a symptom tracker app.

The MS Symptom tracker app is a research support app designed to help researchers collect data more frequently than usual. The app collects minimal identifying data. In addition, your responses to the questionnaires and cognitive tests are stored on our server.

The server is secured, and only the research team have access to it. Your answers will be used for research projects. This will be limited to group averages, and you, nor any other participant will not be identifiable.

If you would like your data to not be used, please let a member of the research team know, and we will delete all information that we hold about you. In line with research norms we will hold copies of this information for 3-years before it is destroyed.
